Welcome...

Please join us in welcoming James Bologna to the Passionist Family! Jim is the new Administrator at St. Paul of the Cross Passionist Retreat & Conference Center in Detroit, Michigan.

Jim has been a regular retreatant at St. Paul's for over 25 years as a member of the Divine Child Men's retreat group. He has served on St. Paul's development committee and as a board member. Jim comes to us from Michigan Medicine where, as Administrative Manager of Quality Analytics, he led a group of 20 highly-educated analysts.

"For me, St. Paul's is a deeply spiritual and reflective place, and I don't think I'll ever be able to pay back all of the graces I've received from going on retreat at St. Paul's," says Jim.

Jim is anxious to embrace this important leadership position and is relying on the support of our Passionist Family as he does so. "The staff at St. Paul's has been warm and welcoming and are kindly assisting me in this new role. Sandra Arnould has left big shoes to fill, so please be patient as I learn from them all."

Welcome, Jim!

Solar Panels: An Expression of Love...

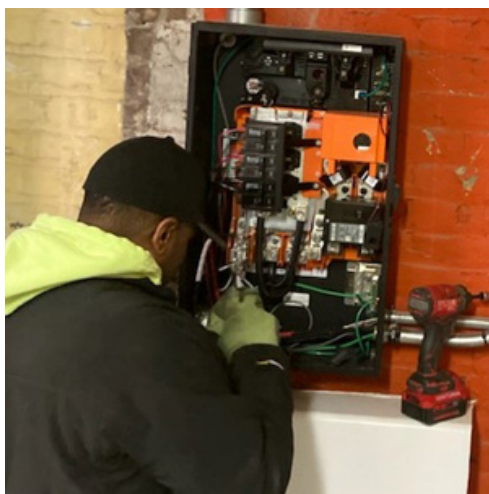

Love, overflowing with small gestures of mutual care, is also civic and political, and it makes itself felt in every action that seeks to build a better world. . . . In this framework, along with the importance of little everyday gestures, social love moves us to devise larger strategies to halt environmental degradation and to encourage a 'culture of care' which permeates all of society. [Laudato Si' # 231]

Solar panels will not be at the top of the wish list for Valentine's Day this year. But, according to Pope Francis, they are an expression of love: social love that builds a better world.

According to Local Superior, John Monzyk, CP, Sacred Heart Monastery in Louisville, Kentucky, is in the process of installing sixty solar panels on their carport which slopes to the south. The panels will decrease air pollution around Louisville, as fewer fossil fuels are burned to generate electricity. The panels, backed up by batteries, will also save about $9,600 per year on the electric bill. The panels will supply electricity for the kitchen, house appliances and lighting, alleviating the need for a generator in case of a power outage.

Sacred Heart Community is very grateful to the generous anonymous person who donated $70,000 for the project.

One of the installers works on connecting the wiring components.

Installation of the batteries and switching gear is complete in preparation for the solar panels.
